The Will of Col. N. A. White. Col. Newell A. White, late proprietor of the Central House, made his will March 23, 1885, and it was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clark. It is now in the county court as a part of the files. Col. A. C. Waterhouse, son-in-law of the leceased, is named as the executor, and the value of the personal property is placed at $54,000. There are two codicils, one dated April 28, 1886, witnessed by .R. Mills, and W. H. Harding, leaving $1000 to Mrs. Mary A. Mosley, of Omaha, Neb., sister of the deceased; the second dated April 3, 1889, witnessed by I. R. Mills and James Glazebrook, leaving $250 annually to Mrs. Jane Sterner, of Danville, N. Y., sister of the deceased. The will of 1885 leaves the family dwelling, personal property and the income of all notes, bonds and mortgages during her life to the wife, who died in 1887, and to his two daughters, Mrs. A. C. Waterhouse, of Decatur, and Mrs. E. P. Niles, of Champaign, were bequeathed the remainder of the estate, share and share alike. Mrs. Niles died about two years ago, leaving two daughters, who receive the share given their mother. In the will L. Burrows is named as the trustee for the Misses Niles, who will receive all their property when they shall have reached the age of 25 years. It is provided that in case Col. Waterhouse wishes to do so he may continue the hotel business and become the owner of the property by paying $8000, or if not, he shall sell the property and invest the proceeds for the benefit of the heirs. With the exception of the small bequests, all of the property, notes, bonds and mortgages go to Mrs. Waterhouse and the Misses Niles, one half to Mrs. W. and the other half to the grand-daughters.

DECATIR, BL., Dec. 16th, 1881.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Macon county:
We have been instructed by the Woman's Industrial and Charitable I not of Decatar to ask your honorable body and the city council to each appoint a committee to confer with a monuntier from the I mon upon the subject of temporary work for applicants for refer, either from the county or private charity. Provisions for work for jet-sons in the city and county palls might be considered at the same time. In 1883 the charity organization society of Indiamapolis, with the county and city a aftorities established a work house and Friendy on in that city, which the society reports have saved the county $20,000 cach year, and given the city almost entire immunity from trainty. Should your honorable body see fit to confer with us on this subject, our committee await your convenience.

It is Here to Stay.

The recent efforts in the United States Senate, by Senatore Butler and Morgan, in favor of some scheme of deportation of the colored race to Africa, will, of course, amount to nothing, because it is based on a voluntary removal. The aim is to race—and as this must be voluntary on the part of the colored people the scheme becomes an absolute impossibility. There are too many interests involved-too much property at stake- to expect that the race will unanimously agree to emigrate. There are other considerations involved, but on the very threshold we ere met by an obstacle which throws persto and made settlements with the board sevent the whole scheme a difficulty of supervisors, upon which they had him var around the whole scheme a difficulty which cannot be overcome. The race difficulty has an easier sort of solution. Let the dominant race in the South mix s little common sense in their efforts to deal with the subject and the problem will be solved at once. Let them treat the colored people with some degree of justice and fairness, and there will be no necessity for their deportation. The removal of a whole race to a country to which they do not want to go is impracpracticable, if they wanted to go, if would be unjust if they are not willing, and would enbiect the government to the just indignation of the whole world. The negro is here to stay, and no fine-spiin ! theories will serve to make him go. Let him work out his destiny, protected by such beneficent laws as an enlightened government should not be ashamed of, and there will be no trouble. There will be no deportation, either voluntary or

A DECISION AT LAST.

The Supreme Court's Opinion in the Ex-Sheriff Foster Case.

Saturday last the Illinois Supreme court submitted a decision in the some what celebrated case of Macon county vs. W. W. Foster, ex-sheriff, and his bondsmen, who were sued for something like $12,000 in this case in which opinion is given. It will be observed that the opinion, which sends the case back for another trial, relieves the bondsmen from all liability, where the records show that a final settlement has been made with the ex-sheriff. The decision is emphatically in favor of Mr. send the negroes out of the country Foster, as on the face of it, he is required bodily-the deportation of the whole to pay but a few hundred dollars, whereas the county wanted $12,000.

SUMMARY OF THE DECISION. Below is a telegraphic summary of the lecision: The Supreme court rendered an opinion to-day in the case of The People for the use of Macon county against W. W Foster, It was an action on Foster's bond as sheriff. During his official term, at various times, he rendered rerious sums of money. After his term of office expired the county sued on Poster's official bond recover back what had been paid and also for fees which he was alleged to have collected and laded to report. One of the items said t have been collected was money paid for the sa'iry of an assistant jailer. The court holds that this, having been paid on a report of the amount of it to the board, cannot be removered. The county board, it says, is invested with large discretion in caring for and keeping prisoners and where the board pays for additional guards or assistance no recovery can be had from the sheriff or his bondsmen. So, where money has een paid to the sheruf upon a fall and oper settlement with the board, the other having made full report and concealed nothing, and the board acting within the general scope of its authority pays him money from the county trastry, although not actually due to the sherin, and out of funds the trannot be appropriated for that purpose, it will be treated, as to the sure ties on his bond, as a voluntary payment, and no re overy can be had from them. Where, nowever, the sheriff or other other, in violation of his duty, fails to report money collected by han and with which he is chargeable, the same may be recovered on his bond. So, also, where he county board, using on a mistake of fact in fineral by failure of the officer to make a jur and true report of fees collected, pays an aprefully to audit the reports of others, and de-sermine the balance for or against the county, but the failure of the board to perform this duty, even to an extent where the members would be come personally hable, will constitute no de ense when suit is brought on the bond to reover money fraudulently and unlawfully of taim 4 by the officer. Among the fees alleged to have been collected and not reported wer be puts it down at $129,000,000. He has opinion holds that the shell is required by not yet commenced figuring on the wealth | haw to report and account for these as for all office are under the control of the board, and he sheriff would be entitled to credit for the ternal expenses for conveying prisoners, and be only chargeable with the balance after deducting such expenses and costs, and so with the per diem of the sheriff for attending the courts of lifs county and for service of process from foreign counties. He must report them, ble. The decision has wide it ferest, as applying to many disputes now existing in reference

THE BALLOT BOX CASE

Richard J. Wood, the Forger, has His Inning.

ANOTHER YERSION OF THE AFFAIR.

The Witness Makes Light of the Matter and "Gets the loke" on the Ex-Governor - A Question of Serious Import.

The Ballot-Box Contract Investigation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 .- After Governor Foraker had concluded his testimony in the ballot-box investigation yesterday, Richard G. Wood was called. He said that he was a mechanical expert and lived in Cincinnati. He had known Ex-Governor Foraker for fifteen years and also knew Covernor Campbell. identified the forged paper, and said he had first seen it before the election The names were written in Cincinnati by Mr. Millward. A young man named Davis helped. This was done in the office of Mr. Murray, solicitor of the Hall & Wood Ballot-box Company. The names were written at Wood's instance. Wood said he told Millward that he wanted to trade the paper for what is called "the Goorgia Top" letter, which might injure the Republican cause. He intended the names to appear as facsimiles of the autographs. The paper referred to in a letter to the Governor as having valuable names on it was simply a blank supscription form with the names of John R. McLean and the Hall & Wood Ballot-box Company on it.

Wood hesitated, and then said he would have to go back to the beginning. He told of a meeting with Jim Foraker the ex-Governor's brother, who suggest ed that he try for the smoke inspector ship. He applied to Governor Foraker who sent him a telegram stating that he would help him, and that Wood could Governor. This and other telegrams he did not now have. Things had become hot for him after theselection, and he had given them to T. C Campbell and Dr. W. A. R. Tenney, of Cincinnati. The particular telegram referred to was given to the latter. Wood then told them of a conversa tion he had with Governor Foraker about the smoke inspectorship, and this led the Governor to remark that Wood could do a little "hustling" for him. Wood wanted to know what he could do and the Governor replied that Wood could get him a little document that had been drawn up in Butterworth's office. The witness wanted to know what the Governor wanted with it, and the Governor told him that Major Butter worth was against him, and was onand failure to do so renders his bondsmen har deavoring to prove that he was disreputable. The Governor thought that he could prove that Butterworth was disreputable. Mr. Wood said he thought he could do prout, Appellate and Supreme courts a little stabbing, and this seemed to and successfully fought for Mr. Foster by this part of the story with many humor called this "political talk," and he told some State contracts, but the Governor said these were not what he wanted. He told the witness that he wanted as behind the Ballot-box bill." The parties seeking to pass the bill were those terested in working for the the bill.

The witness told of several other conversations with Governor Foraker. In Wood who were interested in what the Governor termed "that Washington matter." The Governor thought this was not a right operation for Wood to ask Then Governor Foraker asked if Senator Sherman, Major McKinley, Major Butterworth and a number of others were interested in the matter. The witness did not say "yes" or "no." "There is one man that is either inter-witness, điá not smilē. Wood then told of his search for the paper wanted by Governor Foraker. He was unsuccessful, and finally got up the forged document. He gave the paper to the Governor, telling him it was the best he could do and not to ask any questions. The Governor compared the signatures with those in a book and said they were exactly alike. Tho Governor said he did not see how he could use the paper. Wood was anxious to know how the Governor was going to dispose of it, and the Governor assured him that his name would not be mentioned in connection with it. Wood wanted the Governor to get him the smoke inspectorship, now that the paper had been procured, but the Governor talked about charges made against Wood, and thought he should give up trying for it, and become a candidate for superintendent of the Ohio peniten-Wood insisted that he did not want any thing to do with peniten-tiarles. One night, Wood went on to eay, he met Governor Foraker coming out of the office of the Commercial-Gazette, much out of breath. The Gov. ernor told Wood that Halstead wanted to rip open those fellows in his paper. He referred to those whose names were signed to the forged document. Wood insisted that he did not get the paper un

After some further testimony Chairman Mason asked the witness a question that caused the room to become as still as death.

"Did any other person except yourself and the young man who assisted you have any knowledge that the signatures on the subscription list were not genuine?"

Wood hesitated. He asked again exactly what the chairman meant, and then he replied: "Mr. Foraker." "Do you mean Ex-Governor Forakor?"

"Yes, sir," Wood then wanted to be more explicit in his answer. He asked Chairman Mason if he meant had Governor Foraker entered into a conspirary with him to procure the paper? and on receiving a negative answer said that he told the Governor that the signatures would not stand Governor Foraker did not know that the witness had secured the autograph slips; the Governor had not asked whether the paper was a forgery; he did not know whether the Governor wanted him to committee

In the course of his testimony the witness remarked that Governor Foraker had told him after the election that it was the greatest wonder that he was not beaten by 50,000. At this conversation Wood demanded the State contracts and the forged paper back. The Governor told him to go to Halstend for the latter. This caused the witness some f ar that the paper would be again published. The Governor assured him that this would not happen, but it did happen within forty-eight hours and he was arrested for criminal libel. The witness said he did not understand this investigation. He had not been reading the newspapers. All he wanted was to be set right. He was tired of being ac cused of being allied to both the Repullican and Democratic parties. He' wanted to know where he stood. This concluded Wood's testimony. He had nothing to say and no questions to ask. General Grosvenor requested that Wood remain in Washington until Monday, and an adjournment was taken until ten o'clock on that day.

Funeral Yesterday of the Late

Walker Blaine.

IMPRESSIVE AND AFFECTING SCENES.

Will the Secretary of State Resign?-A Novel Arrangement-Death of Solicitor-General Chapman-Life-Saving Guns-Congressional.

Funeral of Walker Blaine. Washington, Jan. 19.—The funeral of Walker Blaine took place yesterday. The day was bright and the air cool. A large number of the friends of the Blaine family, members of the diplomatic corps and people in official life attended the funeral. A private funoral ceremony was held at the home of Secretary Blaine, on LaFayette Square at 10 36 a. m. The President and Mrs. Harrison, all the members of the Cabinet, E. W. Halford, several members of the diplomatic corps and some intimate friends of the family attended the services, which were conducted by Rev. Dr. Hamlin, pastor of the Church of the Covenant. At the conclusion of the

to the Church of the Covenant, followed by the family and friends in carriages. The funeral cortege arrived at the Church of the Covenant at 11:15 p. m., and, preceded by Rev. Dr. Hamlin, at once passed into the church. The remains, which were encased in a handsome black coffin, were borne by the pall-bearers: Wat. F. Wharton, John Davis, Sevellon A. Brown, Marcellus Bailey, M. L. Ruh, A. F. Jenks, F. B. Loring and Wm. Haywood. After the pall-bearers came Mr. and

Mrs. Blaine, James G. Blaine, Jr., and the Misses Blaine, Mr. Emmons Blaine relatives of the family, President and Mrs. Harrithe Vice-President and Mrs. Mor-60n Secretary and Mrs. Windom, Secretary and Mrs. Proctor, Secretary and Mrs. Noble, Secretary and Mrs. Tracy, Attorney-General and Mrs. Miller, Secretary and Mrs. Rusk. Dr. Hamlin then ascended the pulpit and read the funeral services, concluding with prayer in which he referred to the loss the family had sustained, and prayed God to comfort them in their sorrow They had, he said, lost the "light of their eyes," a life 'so beautiful, so pure, so ovalted, had gone out." At the conclusion of the prayer the Lord's Prayer was recited, the congregation joining with the minister. Benediction was then pronounced, and the remains were again placed in the bearse, and the funeral procession proceeded to Oak Hill Cemetery, where the inter-ment took place. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity. Around the altar were flower?, potted plants, and evergreens in great profusion. Among the prominent people in social, diplomatic and political life present were: The German, French, English and Mexican Ministers, Senators Cockrell, Hale, Frye and Stanford; ex-Senators Henderson and Davis; Representatives Dingley, Boutelle, Hitt, Holman and Lodge. The following gentlemen acted as ushers at the church. J. Fenner Lee, Wm. F. Curiis, N. L. Anderson, A. of these Mr. Garrett passes his days and C. Tyler, T. B. M. Nason, Troxton Beall, Frederick Poor, Clifford Richardson, Woodbury Blair, Reinsen Whitehouse, Chas. Poor, H. T. Wright, T. S. Rodgers, Geo. S Anderson, Richard Smith and A. F. Magrader

The State Department was closed during the time of the funeral and the officials and the clorks attended in a ody. The Department of Justice, adoining the Blaine residence, was also losed from 10 a. m. until 1 p. m.

The services at the cometery were brief but impressive. The lot in which Walker Blaine's remains were buried as liberally covered with the floral offerlags, which were piled up in the greatest profusion around the open grave. The sun was shining brighly and the air had almost the mildness of a spring day as the funeral cortege approuched. Long before the carriages appeared a large number of friends and hers who were unable to attend the services at the church had gathered at the eastern end of the comotory and awaited the arrival of the luneral procession. Soon the long line of mourners entered the east gair. Soon afterwards the col-fin was placed beside the open grave, ir the presence of the family and friends PROVIDENCE. R. I. Jan. 19.-The | Dr. Hamlin stood at the head of the Fitzger: Id building, at Clifford and grave and heade him stood Secretary Blaing, who, although himself deeply prostrated, was able to support the al most fainting form of Mrs Blame. It was evidently with the greatest difficulty that Mr Blaine was able to control his emotion, while all his children who stood close around him showed signs of the deepest grief.

When the casket was lowered into the ground and all that was mortal of a bright and promising young man was laid to rest, many gave way to tears Dr. Hamlin read the impressive buria service, and , hen he came to the words "Dust to dust." Secretary and Mrs Blaine turned away, unable to witness the conclusion of the sad scene. The other members of the family remained however, and when the first shovelfu of earth was thrown into the grave they all gave way to the deepest emotion and the sight was an exceedingly sad one for all the friends of the family When the grave had been filled in th funeral party re-entered their carriages and returned to the city.

The Story of Mr. Blaine's Resignation Revived. WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Herald revives the story about Secretary Blaine's resignation. It says the belief that Mr Blaine's resignation as Secre tary of State is impending has becom very strong within the past few days and after repeating the rumors current from time to time of the strained relations between the President and the Secretary adds: "The death of his son an additional and very strong reason to Mr. Blame for quitting at once his

THE SULLIVAN MURDER.

Harris, to Get a New Trial. There was joy among the friends of W

P. Corbin at Sullivan Saturday upon receipt of a telegram from the Clerk of the Supreme Court at Springfield stating that that august body had ordered supersedess in the case of the State vs W. P. Corbin and remanded it for a new trial. Corbin has served twenty months of a fifteen-year sentence in Uhester for shooting and killing Charles T. Harris in September, 1887. His friends claim the order of the court is based upon new evidence divulged in a recent trial against him for damages by the widow of the man he shot, which was not brought out in the first trial, and that he will stand a good chance of acquittal on second hearing, but the attorney for the State and the other side think there is very little probability of cutting down the sentence in view of all the facts already proven. Corbin will doubtless be permitted to return to Moultrie County, but it is not likely he will be admitted to bail pending the second hearing of his case. A very bitter feeling existed between him and Harris at the time of the 25 Ladies' English Walking Coats, $6.00....reduced from 12.00

At the morning service fully 600 people were present to hear Evangelist Brown, who preached a moving sermon to Christians on the importance of living up to their profession and of being fully arrayed on the Lord's side. Most church members bessid were dead and they had no influence for good over the unconverted because their lives were so worldly. At the close of this ser vice all the church members who intended to aid him in his work during the meetings were invited to go into the chapel. More than one hundred responded to this invitation. Here Rev. Brown made a few remarks in which he outlined the work he expected of them. At 3:30 in the afternoon fully five hundred men assembled to listen to his address on the social evil. His words were plain and positive. The large congregation paid the speaker the closest attention. This peeting was under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. At 5:45 there was a well attended prayer meeting in the chapel and at 7 the regular evening service was held. In spite of the storm the lower portion of the house was filled. Rev. Brown preached again to Christians. This time it was on the necessity of giving ourselves entirely to the Lord if we would be of real service to him. At the close of this service the most important meeting of the day was held. It was the aftermeeting. The chapel was packed and the service lasted for over an hour. In this time fully one hundred persons spoke and at least that number of short prayers were offered. About twenty expressed a desire to be saved and a number found Christ. The room rang with hymn after lymn. It was a triumphant meeting. All hearts were deeply moved. Everyone said "the long prayed for revival has at lest burst upon us." Brown and Hillis will conduct the bible reading in the chapel every afternoon at 3, and the evening service will be held in the main auditorium at 7:30.

The Big Minstrels Coming. Primrose & West's new grand minstre. company has made a hit in every place visited and is playing to immense busitess. The company, headed by George H. Primrose and Billy West, is composed of nearly fifty star artists, old favorites and new ones, with Lew Dockstader and Barney Feagan as the leaders. The first ourt introduces Le Mack Waldron Magee Gordon, Powers, Smith, Martin and Reynolds as the end men, with William H. West and Joseph Natur as interlocutors. George Primrose introduces n unique dance. The first part closes with a family skit called "Oremation." In the second part Hurley and Van Anken and the Weston brothers, in their musical act, "Let'er Go," create no end of laughter, and Barney Feagan introduces his novel comedy merch, "The Promenade of Popinjaya." Professor Barber contributes a wonderful performance on the bicycle, and Lew Dockstader has one of his humorous conversations. Then follows a beautiful dance by eight stars, entitled "The Language of Flowers," led by Messrs. West and Feagun. The Big Four give their laughable sketch, "The Haunted Mill." The company will appear next Friday night, January 24. Blue Mound News.
